

When did you last visit our IAUP homepage?

Dear IAUP member,

We are pleased to inform you, that we are about to update our www.iaup.org website. So far some changes have been already made:

Besides the new names of the acting presidency and the board members, IAUP has renamed the “Council of Senior Advisors” committee as “Advisory Council”.

We included information like pictures, presentations etc. about the IAUP Triennial Conference 2017 in Vienna on the IAUP website:
<http://iaup.org/component/content/article/45-frontpage/248-iaup-2017-triennial-conference-vienna>

“Other Events” shows you invitations to partner events – it’s worth to visit regularly:
<http://iaup.org/component/content/article/45-frontpage/112-other-events>

Under „Awards“ you will find the current winner of the J. Michael Adams Leadership and Service Award <http://iaup.org/awards/adams-award> and you have also the chance to nominate your university staff for the IAUP Faculty Achievement Award <http://iaup.org/awards/iaup-faculty-achievement-award>.

Unfortunately IAUP got sad news too: We were saddened to learn that Jef Van der Perre, a great supporter of IAUP and dear friend for many years, who joined us just recently in Vienna this summer for the Triennial Conference, passed away this September. “In Memoriam” holds some honourable information <http://iaup.org/membership/in-memoriam>. Our deepest sympathies go out to his family.

Our next Semi-annual Meeting will take place in Guadalajara/Mexico on 20-23 November 2017. Registration will be open soon and we will send you detailed information about the venue, hotel etc. a.s.a.p.

We look forward to meeting you in Mexico or at one of our next IAUP events:
<http://iaup.org/component/content/article/111>

Kind regards

Dr. Gerald Reisinger
Secretary General
IAUP

