

Jiang Hongxin , a PhD of Literature at Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, distinguished professor, PhD supervisor, Chairman of Hunan Normal University Council, a member of Academia Europaea, a member of Discipline Reviewing Group of the State Council, reviewer of the National Fund for Social Sciences, Associate Director of the Foreign Languages and Literature Teaching Guiding Committee and Director of English Teaching Guiding Committee for the Higher Education Institutions that are affiliated with the Ministry of Education, Associate Director of China's Master of Interpreting and Translation (MTI), Director of the Evaluation Committee of China's Translation Professional Qualification (Level) Examination and Higher Education Teaching Committee, a member of the Foreign Language Expert Committee of the Teaching Materials Committee, a member of China's Council of BRICS Think Tank Cooperation that is affiliated with the International Liaison Department of CCCPC, President of National English Literature Association, a winner of the New Century Excellent Talents Program supported by the Ministry of Education, supported expert by the Special Government Allowances of the State Council.

Jiang Hongxin has been conducted research in the fields of British and American literature, translation theory and practice, and higher education. He has led and completed over 20 projects of national major bidding projects for Social Science Fundings at national & provincial levels. Entrusted by the Ministry of Education, he has gathered experts from China and abroad to develop the Standards for English Teaching Quality of Undergraduate Education. He has published hundreds of articles in authoritative journals at home and abroad. He has also authored dozens of academic monographs, textbooks, and translation works like Study of Ezra Pound, Approaching the Four Quartets – Study of the Poetry Art of T.S.Eliot, Meanings of College, etc. He has been granted a number of Teaching Achievement Awards at national and provincial levels.